

HARMON'S BOND IS INCREASED TO $15,000 AT HEARING

Instead of Lowering Bond Judge Tarbell Increases It To $15,000 At Hearing This Week

Georgetown, Ohio, August 5.—When application was made before Judge Tarbell by Attorney O. E. Young the first of the week to have the bond reduced for Rev. Charles Harmon, who is in the county jail for having shot his wife at Ellsberry last week, the amount was increased instead of reduced. The court fixed the amount at $10,000, and after rehearing this was raised to $15,000, the court making statement that even this could not be accepted until it could be established whether the bond furnished was acceptable. Mr. Albert Day, of Maysville, who raised and educated Harmon, was present, and made statement that the amount would be furnished, when the court would state that such bond could be legally accepted. Mr. Day visited Rev. Harmon in the county jail where he gave Rev. Harmon assurance that he would see him through the present difficulty. Mr. Day made statement that had he and his wife known of Harmon's domestic troubles the termination would not have been as it was. Harmon's defense was that he could not bring himself to a place to appeal to them.

Word from Ellsberry is that Mrs. Harmon is recovering from the wounds she received. Rev. Harmon is also getting along as well as could be expected and is up and about the jail.

SCHOOL BOARD ELECTS TEACHERS AT MEETING

At Monthly Meeting of City Board of Education Thursday Evening, Vacancies in Teaching Force Filled.

Aside from routine business, the most important transaction of the City Board of Education at their regular meeting held Thursday evening was the election of teachers to fill the three vacancies in the local teaching force.

Miss Mary Page Melby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Melby, of Washington, was elected teacher of History in the High School to succeed Mrs. Thomas A. Keith, Jr. Miss Melby has had special training in history at the best school in America.

Miss Nancy Furlong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Furlong, was elected the teacher of the Commercial department of the High School. After special training in this work, Miss Furlong has taught the course in some of the best High Schools in the West.

Miss Elizabeth Ross, of Carlisle, was elected a teacher of the Sixth grade and will probably be located in the Forest avenue school.

ALVA RUARK BURIED AT VANCEBURG.

The Lewis County Leader says: The body of Alva Ruark was returned home Sunday and buried with military honors in Woodland Cemetery Sunday afternoon. The services were under the auspices of the American Legion, which turned out in a body under the direction of Commander H. M. Fannin and Sergeant At-Arms Bruce Sartin. The address was made by Rev. Stambaugh, of the Christian church. Everyone in Vanceburg and Lewis county had a warm spot in their hearts for "Red" and "Chilly" as he was known to his multitude of friends. And when the boys returned at the close of the war to answer the roll call, no one was more sorely missed. He died as the result of wounds received in the great battle of Argonne in the fall of 1918.

Young Ruark is the son of Mrs. James Greenlee of this city, and is well known here.

INFANT DIES.
Daisy Ellizabeth Blanton, four months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blanton, of the Fleming pike, died at the home of the parents Thursday night after a short illness.

INFANT MORTALITY IS DISCUSSED BY HEALTH OFFICER

Dr. Gultard Gives Medical Advice on the Care of Infants During the Warm Months.

Dr. V. D. Gultard, County Health Officer, issues this statement: In the middle ages owing to the terrible sanitary conditions prevailing, the average length of life was only 20 years. Through the general effects of improved hygiene and more effective control of epidemics the span of life here in 1880 increased to 33 years. In 1900 it was 40 years and in 1921 this was increased to 50 years.

The greatest influence lengthening the span of life has been the decrease of infant mortality.

In 1920, fifteen per cent. of all deaths were under two years of age. The greatest efforts of sanitarians at the present time is directed toward lessening the number of deaths among infants. A diminished death rate among children under two years of age will markedly decrease the total death rate and correspondingly increase the longevity of the entire population.

Various fantastic causes have been blamed for the high infant death rate since this subject has been first studied. It has been shown that the weather has a direct effect upon the deaths of infants. More babies die during the hot summer, and where the greatest variation in temperature exists, there will be the greatest death rate among children.

Bad milk as long ago as 1880 was found to be a factor in increasing infant mortality. The bottle fed baby's chance to live is only one-half that of a breast fed baby. The women who care for the children are responsible for the high death rate.

No milk substitutes can take the place of breast milk. Cholera infantum, the so-called summer complaint of children is responsible for most of the deaths of babies.

In bottle-fed babies absolute cleanliness of all bottles and containers is necessary. Dilute milk substitutes with boiled water and give boiled water frequently to the baby between feedings.

Keep flies away from the baby and its milk, bottles and from all utensils used in the preparation of its food. Babies fed on artificial food should be given a teaspoonful of orange juice daily in addition to their regular feedings in order to supply necessary elements.

The best index of effective health work in a community is the lessened death rate among infants.

ISN'T THIRTY-TWO YEARS ENOUGH?

The interest of certain erstwhile Democratic leaders of Mason county in the Circuit Judge race in the primary to be held on next Saturday is most interesting and amusing.

The "Third Term" cry is being heard in all parts of the county and yet that cry seems directed against two county officials while a most carefully laid smoke screen is obscuring from the view of the voters the third term feature of the Circuit Judge race.

The present incumbent—a splendid gentleman and a good jurist—has eaten at the public crib for a period of 32 years or eight years more than both of the other officials against whom the third term cry is being raised.

What does this special favor hold out for the future of the younger Democrats of the county or district? Is there any reason for this feature of the race being hidden or is there any reason why the two other officials, both of whom are splendid gentlemen and good officials, should be cut off and the present Circuit Judge returned to office?

Judge C. W. Fulton, of Fleming county, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge, is a splendid gentleman, a lawyer of ability and fully qualified for the office he seeks. He has made Fleming county one of the best County Judges that county has ever had and asks the members of his party that they give him a chance to step up higher. Will his path be blocked by sentiment or shall the smoke screen be effective to hide from the voters of the district the thirty-two years already given his opponent in public office?

The Democracy of Mason county and this Judicial district has been unusually kind to the incumbent nor is there any personal feeling in the present race but the old Democratic principle of opposing the perpetuation of one man in office a life time is exerting itself throughout the district.

Give the young Democracy a chance. Vote for Judge C. W. Fulton for Circuit Judge, Saturday, August 6th.—Political Advertisement.

ALLEGED MOONSHINERS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Squire Fred W. Bauer Holds Gaskins and Beckett For Grand Jury Under Heavy Bonds.

Thomas Gaskins and Russell Beckett, of the county, who were pursued into Lewis county and captured last week, were given an examining trial before Squire Fred W. Bauer Friday morning and held for further investigation by the grand jury. The charges against the men were that they had in their possession an illicit or moonshine still and mash. Gaskins' hall was fixed at $500 and Beckett was offered bail in the sum of $300. Neither men furnished bail and they were returned to jail.

Gaskins and Beckett were represented by Attorney A. D. Cole who entered a plea of not guilty to the warrants and the case was gone into in detail, the prosecution offering all of their evidence.

The court room was filled with spectators and there was great interest shown in the progress of the trial.

OPENING PROGRAM OF THE CHAUTAUQUA PLEASES CROWD

Large Audience Witnesses Presentation of "The Right Road" by Canterbury Players Thursday Evening.

Maysville's 1921 Chautauqua under the auspices of the American Legion was opened at Beechwood Park Thursday afternoon in the presentation of "The House of Rimmon" by the Canterbury players and on Thursday evening this same company of artists presented "The Right Road," a play full of comedy. Both productions were well presented and the large audiences were very much pleased with the first numbers.

At 3 o'clock Friday afternoon The Starr Russian Company will render a novelty concert. The company is made up of real Russians and in the company there are some young artists that will greatly please the children. Friday evening Dr. Thomas E. Green, one of America's greatest dramatic orators, will deliver his new and famous lecture "Holding the Outposts." This lecture alone is said to be worth the price of a season ticket and a very large audience is expected. Following this lecture the Russian Company will again entertain with music.

The feature of Saturday's program will be Dr. S. S. Lapin's great patriotic lecture "Can America Make Good" at 7:30 p. m. The Imperial Concert Company with Alfred Hiles Bergen, baritone, will also entertain.

Those who have not as yet procured season tickets should do so at once as much is to be saved by the purchase of a season ticket. Single admission prices have been fixed at 35 cents for children and 50 cents for adults for each and every number on the program.

HOME OF POLICE JUDGE IS FIRED ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Home of Police Judge of Clifton, Well Known Here, Is Attacked by Armed Men Searching for Liquor Twice Thursday Night.

The home of Police Judge J. W. Burns, of Clifton, Ky., south of Newport, was twice Thursday night the target of bands of gunmen. The bullets pierced the front of the dwelling, found lodgment in the walls, splintered the glass in the windows. The residence is located on Grandview road, in a sparsely settled neighborhood, and the pistol practice was but a resumption of virtual latencies that terrorized the town on Wednesday night.

That the gunmen labored under the mistaken belief that he had whisky in his house was the only solution that the judge could give Friday as to the motive of the attacks. "I haven't a drop of whisky in my house and I never have had," said the judge. At his request sheriff's deputies and Newport detectives searched his home between the pistol attacks, Thursday night, and they verified Burn's statement relative to the absence of liquor.

Judge Burns is well known in Maysville, having many warm friends here and having visited here on many occasions.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

A RED ORGANIZATION.

Reversing a decision of the New York Supreme Court, the Appellate Division of that state has ordered the issuance of an injunction against the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, restraining them from picketing the factory of Mark Arnheim, Inc. Clothing manufacturers declare that the Appellate decision will be very far reaching.

The history of this strike in connection with the Arnheim concern is so characteristic of the methods adopted by the workers of the clothing union as to merit review. Prior to 1919 the Arnheim business was always conducted as an open shop, working on a piece basis. In May of that year the Amalgamated organized the shop and called a strike which was settled three months later by an agreement of the firm to institute the closed shop, employing only Amalgamated workers. "Production promptly began to decrease," says the Court's decision, "and it was found that a small clique of union workers were preventing the others from doing a full day's work for a full day's pay. Appeals to union leaders were fruitless, as were negotiations to obtain a reasonable standard of production by each worker." In November, 1920, the firm decided to close its shops and thereafter employ no Amalgamated tailors, but have it work done by outside contractors. Then came the picketing of the concern.

In the complaint drawn by counsel it was averred that the Amalgamated is "not an ordinary trade union, but a radical departure in unionism by the revolutionary element of the clothing workers, who openly preach violence to attain their purpose of securing the means and instruments of production and destroying all private and individual ownership," and that most of the Amalgamated members are un-Americanized foreigners. Justice Greenbaum, who handed down the decision of the Appellate Division, dwelt at considerable length on the revolutionary tone of the preamble to the constitution of the Amalgamated, and he called attention to the fact that though the members now "disclaim approval" of the words of the General Secretary and Treasurer, who stood up for the preamble in a speech, "it does not appear that they have ever taken official action disavowing the disloyal sentiments of their spokesmen." In this connection it is interesting to note that the head of the Amalgamated was recently reported as on his way to Russia, having secured a passport to Lithuania, presumably for the purpose of receiving fresh instructions and material for the campaign supported by this union.

It is probable that legal action will be taken in the near future for the dissolution of the Amalgamated and for money damages claimed by the Arnheim corporation. Apparently it is dangerous organization of firebrands which should be scattered and rendered impotent for further mischief.

THE BOMBING TESTS.

The Navy tests off the Virginia Capes have proved the value of airplanes as defense machines in case our coasts are threatened. They also caused twinges of regret among the witnesses of the tests that Congress had not dealt more generously with our airplane service. But the aftermath of Wilsonian spendthriftness has appalled not only Congress but the people represented by that body. However, there will be another opportunity to deal wisely by the airplane service when Senator Poinexter brings up a separate bill making appropriations for certain phases of the air service to refuse which will cripple the entire service. A large number of Congressmen witnessed the tests off the Capes. Many of them had voted injuriously to the air service and a number of them will be found voting right on the Poinexter bill. Seeing is believing.

MADDEN SEES BIG CUT.

Congressman Martin B. Madden, of Illinois, believes that internal revenue taxes in the next fiscal year can be cut so as to raise only $2,500,000. "This can be done," said Mr. Madden, "if the most rigid economy is practiced, and the country is demanding that it be done. Under present appropriations for next year, which total slightly in excess of $2,500,000,000, I believe a total revenue of $4,000,000,000 will be adequate for the year." Congressman Madden estimates that the postal revenues, the new tariff law, and miscellaneous receipts will each yield revenues of $500,000,000 leaving the amount required from internal revenues at the figure quoted.

Troy (N. Y.) Times—It is becoming more and more plainly evident that not one of the big powers that were allied in the world war—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—is inclined to take any step that will be objectionable to the United States. And this country remains outside of the league of nations.

Two Protestant Episcopal conferences have endorsed the advertising of the business of churches in newspapers.

NIBBLES.

You can get a nibble anywhere—with any sort of bait—in any shallower water, where the little suckers wait. . . . But there ain't a speck of wisdom in a pin-hook on a string, which attracts a lot of nibbles, while you never catch a thing!

You can allers find the fishin' that is suited to yer skill, if you exercise the judgement that it takes to fill the bill—but the man that fools with nibbles till the season peters out, will only have the fish that got away, to be about. . . .

While a "nibble's better'n nothin'," as you've heard the fellers say, you can stake yer bottom dollar that nibbles never pay. . . . If I want my patience busted, an' my resolution shook, it's when a batch of little fish is foolin' with my hook!

So—I allers aim to angle fer the fish that I can fry. . . . There's a brand of pleasure in it, that gets a feller by. . . . And I'd rather yank a whopper from the murky depths below, than to fool with little suckers in the pud. . . . where they grow.

BANKERS ARE URGED TO HACK DAIRYING IN SOUTH

Southern Bankers Are Being Urged To Help Farmers Interested In Dairying.

A comparison of the financial condition of dairy farmers and dairy communities with cotton farmers and cotton communities in Mississippi brings out the fact that while 80 or 90 per cent of the cotton farmers owe the banks money and are asking for extensions on their notes, there are almost no instances of notes held against dairy farmers. The merchants in towns surrounded by the best dairy communities report their business throughout last fall and winter as remarkably good.

This statement is made on the authority of the extension dairy husbandman who for nearly ten years has engaged in the movement carried on by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State Agricultural College of Mississippi to build up dairying in that state and furnish the farmers with a source of income after the boll weevil had reduced the production of the South's great staple.

To farmers these facts should lend encouragement to break away from the one-crop system, the specialist says, to the bankers and business men they should be convincing proof that greater farm prosperity, attained by a more permanent and constructive type of farming, benefits the entire community. The growth of the dairy industry throughout the South is limited in a very large degree by the willingness and ability of bankers and other money interest to finance the cotton farmer of the past in buying cows and making the necessary changes in order to branch out in a new line.

The experience of the business people in a western Pennsylvania town, which became interested in promoting dairying and improved agriculture generally, should be illuminating to many of the southern bankers who have not been converted to diversified farming. In 1915 a creamery was organized in this Pennsylvania town, and one of the two banks in the place became very active in promoting dairying. It took the initiative in bringing in cows to sell in the farmers at cost, and inconvenienced itself in many ways to accommodate the farmers.

In five years there was built up a large membership in various dairying associations; 43 members in the cow-teasing associations, 86 in bull associations, 187 in breeders', and 698 in creamery patrons' associations. A Young Farmers' Club had a roll of $3, and there were 75 members of the Boys' and Girls' Dairy Club. Thirty farmers became members of the Chamber of Commerce, thus making the farmers feel that town and country were inseparably bound together in one big community. The dairy herds, after five years, had 1,100 purebred cows, 232 purebred bulls, 1,360 purebred heifers, 4,513 tuberculin-tested cattle, and 176 accredited herds.

During the year ended June 30, 1920, the creamery paid out $410,125.15 to its patrons. The bank which had promoted the agricultural development made a gain in deposits of $968,847.12; while the older bank, which also gained because of the greater general prosperity in the town, showed a gain of $542,383.01. About $1,500,000 in these two banks was deposited by farmers, an increase of $1,000,000 in farmers' deposit in five years.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington. — Press dispatches convey the information that Monticello the home of Jefferson, has been placed in the hands of real estate agents for sale to some person who desires the property because of its historic associations and who will be able to properly maintain it. This probably indicates an end of the persistent efforts made in the past few years to induce the Federal Government to make an appropriation for the purchase of the property. It is well to note that the movement has been abandoned, and this is said without any lack of appreciation of the great service rendered by Jefferson to his country.

There is and will be but one national shrine in America—Mt. Vernon, the home of Washington. Mt. Vernon is located about fifteen miles from the National Capital, and is conveniently reached by rail or boat. Practically every visitor to Washington goes to Mt. Vernon and feels amply repaid for the effort, not only because of the opportunity to pay this respect to the Father of His Country but because of the enjoyment of one of the most beautiful rural scenes to be found anywhere in America.

Mt. Vernon has become a national shrine without having been purchased by the Federal Government. It is owned and managed by an association of patriotic women who pay the maintenance expenses from a fund raised by charging an admission fee of 25 cents. There has been no fault whatever found with the manner in which the property is kept up; no government commission could maintain it in better condition, nor, probably at less cost. Some fault has been found with the charge for admission, and on this ground largely is based the argument for purchase of the property or its taking over by the Federal Government. The movement has made little progress, however, due, apparently, to the fear that government management might be less satisfactory and more expensive. Most people are indifferent to the charge for admission, a few resent it, and probably a larger number are glad of the opportunity to contribute that small amount to the maintenance of the property in its original condition.

Government ownership and management might very easily be attended by regulations and restrictions which would far more than offset the charge for admission under private management. There is not now in evidence a single "Keep off the Grass" sign, and yet the grass is in perfect condition throughout the grounds. There is no officiousness in ordering visitors around; in fact it would be difficult to find any government institution where the visitor is as free to wander about and enjoy himself as he is on the grounds of the old home of George Washington.

Since Mt. Vernon has not been taken over by the Government, and very likely will never be, it is quite certain that no former home of any other prominent American will be purchased by the United States. Recognizing this, the present owners of Monticello, near Charlottesville, Virginia, have abandoned all thought of the property becoming a national shrine through government acquisition. It is recognized in official circles that if the Federal Government embarks on a policy of buying property of this kind, it will

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York — Ah! At last! One touch of real romance in the Stillman case! But among neither the principals nor witnesses. Just the reporters. The so-called president of the so-called Stillman Reporters' Association and Mutual Benefit League got so tired of the people the testimony was all about up there in those Poughkeepsie hearings that he turned to one of the girl feature writers — "Sob sisters" — there for the purpose of gilding the brass of it all, if possible; and he found this colleague of his own world decidedly refreshing. So there in that sordid, curiosity-craving atmosphere, the romance began, which soon is to have official announcement.

It's quite all right to pamper the children; but my gracious haven't the poor grown-ups a right to live, too? So questioned Manhattan as they watched the shower baths that the traveling hove ecstatic crowds of kids these hot summer evenings. Consequently Fire Chief Kenon is being deluged with applications for the show to be continued after the young generation is safely tucked in bed. Down in the Greenwich Village corner of town, they are already at it. Block shower parties with bathing suits the costume de rigueur are almost every evening affairs.

Nine more American heroines landed in New York the other day from those districts of Europe where still there is war. They are Valentine Smetkowska, Anna Michalowska, and Felicia Krutwicz, of St. Louis; Zofia Kosebusky, and Anna Kopec, of Trenton, N. J.; Stephanie Kozlowski, of Taylor, Pa.; Mary Andrepowska, of Milwaukee; Helen Sietravska, of Duquesne, Pa.; and Josephine Tarkowski of Cleveland, the Polish Grey Samaritan; American girls one or two generations removed from Poland, recruited and trained by the Y. W. C. A. to go over during the war. The aristocratic came before they had sailed, but the American Relief Administration needed workers badly, so they went over to do whatever was to be done. They found plenty of work. The Polish people are still in desperate need of food, of nursing, and almost more important, of something to bring back into their lives the spirit of youth and of play. So, because the girls ARE heroines, they are going to stay at home only six weeks and then return to the field. More than that they are anxious to return. The urgency of the people's needs over there means considerably more than their own physical comforts. They have traveled these long miles in cattle cars, standing with the cattle; they have come without food themselves and tried to cheer others who were without it; they have been in constant contact with tragedy. But on September first, they will sail to take their place among its shadows once more. And they refuse to be considered heroines. But we've heard all about their work from the Administration so we know the size of it.

Deep-sea going bicycles are the latest aquatic sport medium. They are actual bicycles of a peculiar design—with floaters attached somehow to keep them afloat ever with a hunky passenger peddling away on them. Miss Barrett, one of the enthusiasts over the new sport, won a race the other day over the course from the Battery to Midland Beach, making it in two hours and forty minutes.

At the S. P. C. A. hospital in New York there is $400,000 worth of radium for the relief of animal cancer. Dr. Smith of the hospital staff reports that scores of animals, dogs, cats, cows and horses have been cured by means of it. "During the current year," he said, "the hospital has handled an average of forty cases a day. The radium is the property of the Memorial Hospital but by special arrangement it has been made available to the relief of suffering among the dumb animals."

Fishermen on the north shore of Montauk Point, Long Island, have found a novel and valuable use for old and discarded fish nets. They make roads of them: lay them over the mashes back of the beach where their huts and boats are placed, and the sand blows into the meshes and stays there. Soon it is packed into a firm roadway solid enough even for light automobiles.

LUSY JEANNE PRICE.

MONEY AND MARKETS.

The United States is practically through the period of violent business disturbance which began in May, 1920. We will from time to time have visible evidences of the distressing conditions through which the country has been passing, but these occurrences should be regarded not as indices to forward conditions but as relating to the past. The changes which have taken place have not as yet been recognized by the business public for two main reasons. The period of normal midsummer dullness now at hand has obscured the certain evidences of improvement and there has been lacking a thorough comprehension of credit conditions.

Failure to recognize the passing of the period of insufficient credit has resulted from lack of recognition of the fact that for a long time the credit shortage has been apparent rather than real and due in large part to the unsatisfactory character of some of the risks offered. There is now no bank credit available for operations designed to hold prices at fictitious levels. Orderly organized marketing, if fair, succeeds, but attempts to hold prices above the levels determined by international supply and demand are certain eventually to fail. American business and government alike have thus far kept clear of entanglements

KENTUCKY FARMERS REAP RICH HARVEST.

Revenue from Breeding Thoroughbred Horses Only Profit to Be Depended Upon.

Sale of Blooded Colts Produces Money When Other Products Bring Loss.

The Kentucky farmer has lost money on his wheat and corn. He is forced to sell his cattle and hogs at a losing and constantly falling market; and his losses on his tobacco have nearly driven him into bankruptcy. The calamities of a troubled world are placed upon his back, already bent double by its burdens. Under these adverse conditions, the one fortunate exception among farmers is the stock raiser who owns one or more thoroughbred mares. He always finds a nation-wide demand for his thoroughbred foals. The weanling at its mother's side frequently brings him $500 to $1,000, while the yearling will sell for from $1,500 to $10,000; a colt from a Jefferson county farm having brought, at one of the recent Saratoga sales $25,000.

Year in and year out, the Kentucky thoroughbred finds a ready market. Buyers from all over the world come to this State to secure material to improve the horses of their respective countries or localities. Owner Riddle refused $500,000 for Man-O-War, a horse bred by Mr. August Belmont in Old Kentucky. A wonder horse is Man-O-War. A smasher of all records and victor over all opponents that made some of the most brilliant of turf history, he has been returned to his native hearth, there to perpetuate his great qualities. Last month, Man-O-War's full brother, Playfellow, by name, was sold for $115,000; and not long ago, John E. Madden refused $125,000 for a half interest in the Kentucky-bred stallion, Friar Rock, now in the stud at Hamburg Place, near Lexington.

Numerous other thoroughbred stallions and mares of nearly if not quite priceless value are owned in the State. Wheat, corn and tobacco are often crop failures, and cattle and hogs are frequently raised at a loss. But the thoroughbred has a great permanent value, for nowhere else in this country is he brought to such perfection as in Kentucky, and his fame and the demand for him are world-wide.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SEE AMERICA

Every one of America's big cities has interest for the traveler, particularly at this time of great commercial and industrial activity. There is more variety of scenery and climate in America worthy of your trips than in any other country of the world. Travelers come from all over the globe—to see America. Have you seen it?

of this character, but even so, American business cannot avoid their indirect effects. Valorization schemes providing for indefinite holding for arbitrary prices of such commodities as wool, silk, coffee, sugar and sugar, if successful, would involve the purchase by American consumers of raw materials at levels likely to invite ultimate loss, and as long as these plans contemplate the maintenance of an artificial price they cannot be disregarded in consideration of credit risks.

Some businesses have found difficulty in getting what they have felt to be a fair line of credit. This has been because of a desire to operate on a basis of inventories of raw materials and goods not yet written down or because in these instances heavy investments have been made in plant and equipment at inflated prices. In such cases they are not yet willing to admit that they will have to take their losses and adjust their operations to make profits on real values only.

Although occasional failure to secure desired credit accommodations has served to keep alive the impression that there is a shortage of bank credit, the truth is that there is now available a volume of credit larger than present business requires. The main requisite for a return toward normal conditions is the will to try for business on an even level where it can be had. The period of general liquidation of the raw material markets of the United States has passed. Recent declines are due to conditions of supply and demand in specific lines. This is a normal condition. Wholesale prices of many classes of manufactures have been fully deflated. This is not true in all lines, but recent cuts in the price of steel and widespread reductions in wages indicate that adjustment in wholesale prices will not be long delayed. Retail prices show wide irregularities, and high-cost stocks have been largely disposed of. Price stabilization is, therefore, not far ahead.

Steady betterment of the banking position which has been in progress during the current year gives full assurance against credit stringency when crop-financing requirements become effective. The reserve ratio of the Federal reserve banks now stands 61.6 per cent. against 43.9 per cent. a year ago. At this season last year, the bill holdings of the reserve banks exceeded $2,446,000,000. They now total $1,729,000,000. During the same period the reserves of the system against combined note and deposit liabilities have increased more than 25 per cent. Loans of reporting member banks are far below the level of a year ago. The banking system is in a splendid position to meet autumn requirements for credit, which will be much smaller in volume than last year because of lower prices.

Throughout the Continent, except Russia, conditions are steadily improving, although the disordered state of public finances continues to be a heavy handicap to industry. German

NEW FARM EXPLOSIVE MADE AVAILABLE FOR STATE DISTRIBUTION

165,000 Pounds of Picric Acid Surplus Allotted to Kentucky Farmers For Land-Clearing Work.

Kentucky's share of 12,500,000 pounds acid, a high explosive available from a War Department surplus for distribution to farmers who wish to use it in clearing land, will be distributed through the cooperation of the College of Agriculture at Lexington and the Bureau of Public Roads of the United States Department of Agriculture, according to an announcement by Dean Thomas P. Cooper, of the college. Kentucky will be allotted 165,000 pounds of the explosive on the basis of her 3,222,000 acres of cultivated land. This amount will be held for farmers of the state until May 1, 1922, at which time any allotments that have not been taken up will be cancelled and suitable distribution made of them.

The acid is an explosive of approximately the same strength as 40 per cent. dynamite and is safe to handle and otherwise suitable for land-clearing purposes, according to explosive experts who have conducted tests with it. A cartridge of the acid as prepared for distribution weighs about six ounces and is equal in strength to an eight-ounce cartridge of the commercial dynamites used for agricultural blasting. For stump and rock blasting the explosive can be used in exactly the same way that dynamite is used. The charges are placed in the same manner as the same number of cartridges used in the charge as in the case of dynamite. It is necessary to use a No. 8 cap in detonating picric acid because of the insensitiveness of the material.

The cost of carting, distributing and handling the material when it is distributed in cooperation with the college will be about seven cents a pound, according to the announcement made. To this amount must be added the freight charges which will vary from one to six cents a pound, probably averaging less than three cents, making a total cost of from eight to 13 cents a pound. Applications for the material should be made to the College of Agriculture. Enough requests must be received to make up at least a car load shipment before any of the explosive will be distributed in Kentucky, according to the announcement.

In an effort to reduce national extravagance, when approximately $5,000,000,000 is being spent in this country each year, the Government now has a Thrift Division in connection with the Treasury Department.

PREPARATIONS MADE FOR LAST SUNDAY AT CAMP

Management Hopes Next Sunday To Be the Greatest Day in History of Ruggles Campground.

(By J. H. RICHARDSON.)

Ruggles Campgrounds, August 4. — A word to the Maysville people especially those attending the chautauqua. We understand that one of our campmeeting preachers, Dr. Ryder of Union College has been selected to give the Sunday sermon at the chautauqua. We wish to say that the committee has used good judgment. A treat is surely in store for those who hear him. Dr. Ryder is here for his first time. In the one sermon delivered he has proved himself to be a preacher of unusual ability. He is eloquent, earnest and pleasing in manner. He gains the attention and interest of his audience right at the outset. You just cannot keep from following him in his delivery of his subject. If you are not at Ruggles Campmeeting Sunday be sure to hear Dr. Ryder at the chautauqua.

There has been a regular Sunday crowd in the camp this evening. In our more than twenty-five years at this campmeeting we have never seen anything like as many people here on a week night. No doubt but that the wonderful preaching of Dr. Ryder is drawing the people. Such earnest attention as the crowds are giving surely means much for the results of the meetings.

It will be well to announce here that Dr. Ryder will deliver two great sermons on Sunday, the last day of the meeting. His subjects for that day will be, morning, "The Fellowship of the First Born;" evening, "The Tragedy of the Eleventh Hour." The management is preparing for the greatest crowd in the history of the campmeeting. In Dr. Ryder we feel that we have a preacher we can recommend as one who will fulfill the largest expectation of anyone. Come and hear him.

The usual order of services will be followed out on Sunday. The morning prayer service at 6 a. m. Visitors would enjoy being at that service. Why not start early enough to take in every service of the day? At 9 a. m. the campmeeting love feast will be held with Mr. G. N. Harding as leader. The preaching services will be at 10:30 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and the closing service at 7:30 p. m. We have a tentative promise of the Trinity M. E. Church orchestra, of Augusta, also their male quartet for the Sunday services. If they should come a real musical treat is in store. Even should they not come Director Ashley has a fine program of music by our campmeeting choir.

The annual memorial service was held today at the morning church hour Rev. G. N. Jolly was chosen to preach the sermon which was on the subject "Heaven." No need to say it was a good sermon. Many times has Dr. Jolly been selected for this occasion. He is so well versed in the Holy Bible that he brings to those in sorrow the wonderfully comforting words of the Bible in such a way that one is brought to rejoice for the wonderful hope of the Christian. Those campers who have died during the year were Rev. C. W. Williams of the M. E. Church, South, Germantown, Carter Hamrick, Mrs. Off Hendrick, Mrs. Henry V. Morris, Harry Foxworthy and Mrs. Geo. Arnold. Following the sermon the sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered to a large crowd of communicants.

The morning prayer service was conducted by another new preacher, Rev. F. W. Points, of the Vaneburg circuit.

Dr. Fort had charge of the afternoon service. He gave us another wonderful message on the Sunday school, emphasizing the value of religious education. It was inspiring to hear him tell how the child should be taken at birth and gradually trained in the Christian life. At 10 a. m. tomorrow he will give his final talk it being "Play and Religion." This will be a popular service and one profitable to leaders of the young life of the church.

The board of directors met this morning and organized for the coming year by re-electing the old officers, John R. Brodt, president; W. S. Peters, secretary, and J. H. Richardson, treasurer. J. R. Brodt and G. N. Harding a committee to allot ground to any prospective cottage builders, there being those who desire to build soon after campmeeting for next year.

Revs. O. W. Robinson and family and E. N. Early and daughter left this morning for their homes in Russell in order to meet their Sunday appointments.

Rev. W. C. Stewart, of Augusta, arrived today. He was immediately made a member of the male quartet assisting in the singing of a fine selection at the evening service.

Rev. C. F. Pegrum, of the Indiana Nazarene church, arrived today on a visit to his father-in-law, Rev. N. G. Griswold and family.

Misses Florence and Hilda Tucker, of Plumville, and Miss McCann, of Rectorville, are here for a few days camping with Miss Rena Mae Coryell. Mr. Minor Deaton and son, of Hillsboro, came over today for a few days camp life.

Mrs. Bettie Smart, of Hillsdale, came out today for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane in the Lane Inn.

Mrs. Wm. E. Rosser arrived today and is stopping with Mrs. H. H. Rosser.

Mr. Wm. Rice, of Lewisburg, joined the big crowd of campers today. Mr. and Mrs. Winn P. Bowman came in this afternoon for a few days visit with our campers.

Mrs. John H. Bryant, of Portsmouth, Ohio, was seen in the large audience this evening. While visiting his nephew, Mr. T. A. Warder, near the camp, he will be a frequent visitor with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Myers, son and daughter, of Maysville, were in the camp for the afternoon and evening today.

Mrs. Wm. Right and Mrs. Chas. Ferguson, of Cottageville, were visiting their son and daughter in camp today.

Misses Elizabeth Calvert and Esculaine Truxel and Mr. Andrew Moody motored out for the evening services today.

George H. Frank who stayed in camp last night hustled out of bed about 5 a. m. this morning at the ringing of a farmer's breakfast bell near by the campground, mistaking it for our hotel bell. Upon approaching the hotel he was told there would be "nothing doing" in the way of "eats" until after prayer meeting which would be 7 o'clock. And that's why George was an attendant at the sunrise prayer meeting.

CARLESON'S FUNERAL IN FAMOUS CHURCH.

Naples, August 4. — The funeral of Enrico Caruso took place today. From the Royal Church of San Francesco di Paola the cortege moved through the streets lined with troops and vast crowds to the cemetery, where the body was placed in a vault.

Services were held in this famous church by permission of King Victor Emmanuel, who sent a special representative to attend the ceremony. A great choir, composed of hundreds of singers, assisted in the requiem high mass.

DAYS OF DIZZINESS. Come to Hundreds of Maysville People.

There are days of dizziness; Spells of headache, languor, backache; Sometimes rheumatic pains; Often urinary disorders. Doan's Kidney Pills are especially for kidney ills.

Endorsed in Maysville by grateful friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. J. W. Ishmael, 225 East Fifth street, Maysville, says: "I had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for many years. I think I inherited it as my mother died of dropsy. My kidneys were in a weak condition and at times they acted too often. My back ached terribly and it broke my rest at night as the misery was still there. I had dizzy spells and could see flashes before my eyes and everything turned black before me. A friend told me about using Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit so I sent to Swift's Drug Store and got two boxes. After using them I got better and have felt like a different woman ever since. I can't recommend Doan's too highly."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy — get Doan's Kidney Pills — the same that Mrs. Ishmael had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfg., Buffalo, N. Y.
